1. I want to thank you for your superb work in producing the slide presentation, "Proud and Ready", and the videotape, "Pure Wickham." Your creative thinking, patience, and hard work are what guaranteed their success.
2. The response of the audience reflects their true value. If all your products are received as well as the AUSA presentation, the Army could not ask for more.
3. You are providing a tremendous service to the Army and our soldiers. Thank you for a job well done. Keep it up!

Dear Tommy,

Many thanks for sending over the video tape, "Day One: Sustaining Excellence through Maintenance."

I did review it and thought that Major Zarwell and LT Foley did a fine job putting it together.

As you well know, we all need to work hard at integrating maintenance into training. We can't plan on standing down to get ready. We must maintain as we go.

The tape helps reinforce that point, but only a sincere effort on the part of logisticians and commanders Army-wide will make it a reality.

Most sincerely,

JOHN A. WICKHAM, JR.
